ELSEVIER

Artificial Intelligence 119 (2000) 303

Artificial Intelligence

www.elsevier.com/locate/artint

Author Index—Volume 119 (2000)

Boettcher, S. and A. Percus
Nature's way of optimizing (Research Note) 275–286
Cadoli, M. and F. Scarcello
Semantical and computational aspects of Horn approximations 1– 17
Cooper, M.C.
Linear constraints for the interpretation of line drawings of curved objects 235–258
Davis, R., see Stahovich, T.F. 19– 60
Fitoussi, D. and M. Tennenholtz
Choosing social laws for multi-agent systems: Minimality and simplicity 61–101
Kay, H., B. Rinner and B. Kuipers
Semi-quantitative system identification 103–140
Kuipers, B.
The Spatial Semantic Hierarchy 191–233
Kuipers, B., see Kay, H. 103–140
Liberatore, P.
The complexity of belief update 141–190
Moinard, Y.
Note about cardinality-based circumscription (Research Note) 259–273
Percus, A., see Boettcher, S. 275–286
Rinner, B., see Kay, H. 103–140
Scarcello, F., see Cadoli, M. 1– 17
Sharkey, N.E.
J.A. Anderson and E. Rosenfeld (Eds.), Talking Nets: An Oral History of Neural Networks (Book Review) 287–293
Shrobe, H., see Stahovich, T.F. 19– 60
Stahovich, T.F., R. Davis and H. Shrobe
Qualitative rigid-body mechanics 19– 60
Tennenholtz, M., see Fitoussi, D. 61–101
Würtz, R.P.
Gossiping Nets (Book Review) 295–299

Elsevier Science B.V.